

Count Tofourula hails from the tranquil mountains of Transylvania. Born a musical prodigy, he has spent most of his thousand years as a vampire and was once known as the "Elvis of Romania". He now takes his fall vacation in the hills above Kenilworth, living in an abandoned mine and feasting on the locals. Other than shopping for sunscreen at the local supermarkets Count Tofourula rarely appears in public, preferring to limit his performances to late October when the moon is full. If you listen carefully you can hear him play his violin in the distant hills. Very scary.
