

Pacific Range is an Americana/Jam-Band based out of LA with influences from The Allman Brothers, Gram Parsons, and The Grateful Dead. Their melodic and lyric-based music incorporates the feel-good vibes of the 60's and 70's, with deep jams and plenty of improvisation. Their debut self-titled EP encapsulates their wide array of influences and live sound. Santa Rosa Records praised it as "A throwback gem of vintage vibrations."

The band has opened for artists like Circles Around The Sun, Duane Betts, Chris Robinson, and Dick Dale. They have toured extensively playing festivals like Folk Yeah's Hipnic, Lucidity, and Camp Navaro.